Description

This stunning 1993 Range Rover is an outstanding example of the iconic vehicle. Finished in Aegean Blue with a Grey leather interior, it is the epitome of luxurious early nineties all-weather motoring. The vehicle comes with a significant history file, including the original sales invoice from the supplying dealer, as well as details of servicing carried out over its thirty years, with the vast majority being carried out by Land Rover main dealers. The service history also backs-up the incredible low mileage of just over forty one thousand miles. The car is unrestored and in incredibly original condition and still wears its original paintwork. Having had just two owners from new, the first owners having owned the vehicle for seventeen years. The underside of the vehicle is in outstanding condition, having likely never been used in winter months and certainly never off-road! Having travelled only minimal mileage since new this vehicle will make a stunning addition to any collection. The vehicle has been fully prepared in our own workshop here at Land Rover Classic and will be provided with a 12 month Warranty for the new owner.
